

Novus International Inc. creates animal health and nutrition solutions based on science. Over 2000 clients in more than 80 countries trust the Novus product family to be an integral part of their daily animal agriculture operations. At Novus we believe in Performance Through Innovation, which is why we employ more than 50 Ph.D. Animal Nutritionists and Doctors of Veterinary Medicine who work continuously to create new products and programs.

Novus leverages scientifically-based innovations that address the key challenges facing the global animal agriculture industry. Animal health and nutrition products are currently geared towards the aquaculture, beef, dairy, pork, poultry, feed quality, equine and companion animal industries.
